Title: "Show Me Your Glory"
Byline: Sheryl Giesbrecht

Have you ever been so in awe of God, so wonder struck by His grace, you couldn't stand up? The experience of face down moments with God should be a regular part of our worship. Scripture illustrates the experience of Ezekiel, the prophet in Ezekiel 1:28, "It seemed to look like the glory of the Lord. So when I saw it, I bowed facedown on the ground and heard a voice speaking." God had gotten Ezekiel's attention. In the next section, God told him to stand up so he could talk to him. Have you considered face down moments as a part of your worship? Not only are they an act of humility but an awesome awareness of an attitude of gratitude not only for who God is but what He has done in our lives.

Consider the glory of God as it is happening right now while you are reading this. Isaiah 6:1 says, "I saw the Lord, seated on a throne, high and exalted and the train of his robe filled the temple." Isaiah describes the glowing celestial beings called seraphs, whose sole purpose is to glorify God, calling to each other in Is. 6:3, "Holy, holy, holy is the Lord Almighty; the whole earth is filled with His glory." The seraphs show us how to treat God. Whenever a word is used multiple times in scripture, it's like a highlighter. The chanting of holy reminds us God's holiness is unique to Him. Our holy, holy, holy God wants to show us His glory. It's ours for the asking. Right now the seraphs are praising God on high and you can, too.

And Moses, after meeting with God for instructions for the tabernacle and many experiences of God's working mighty miracles for the Israelites via winning battles, receiving manna and quail, led by the cloud and fire, even the death by drowning of an army of Egyptians; prayed in Exodus 33:18, "Then Moses said, "Now, please, show me your glory." Not only did Moses want God's glory for His own personal experience of worship, Moses wanted more of God. Have you ever come to God with no agenda? Have you set aside your list of requests just to be with Him? Have you considered He just wants to be with you? Dare to pray the prayer of Moses, "Show me your glory." Then wait and see what happens.
